- 10. In or about May 1972, Pedro Morales delivered $3,750 in cash to John Sanders.

once you have determined that the offense has been established under the guidelines I have just given you, then the crime of conspiracy is complete, regardless of which of the conspirators did the overt act. Furthermore, at this point, the success or failure of the conspiracy to accomplish the common object or purpose is immaterial.

Now, the second count of the indictment is the bribery count. It charges that from in or about October 1971 up to and including May 1972, Anthony LoSchiavo and

Andrew Storms unlawfully, knowingly and wilfully did corruptly give, promise or offer $15,000 to John Sanders and Pedro
Morales, employees of the New York City Model Cities Administration, who were then acting for the United States in an official function under the authority of the United States Department of Housing & Urban Development, with intent to influence official acts, namely, to induce and influence Sanders and Morales to recommend that the New York
City Model Cities Administration approve a lease for a building owned by defendant LoSchiavo, located at 177 East 123rd Street, New York.

In order for you to return a verdict on this count against the defendant, you must be convinced that each of the following three elements has been proved beyond a reasonable doubt:

First, that some time between October 1971 and May 1972 the defendant wilfully and knowingly gave or caused to be given $15,000 to John Sanders and Pedro Morales.

Second, that at the time Morales and Sanders were public officials of the United States, acting in their official capacity.

Third, that the defendant paid this money to Sanders and Morales with the specific and corrupt intent to influence Sanders' and Morales' decision to recommend reasonable doubt, the mere fact that money was given to Sanders or Morales is not enough to satisfy this element of the offense. You must find that the money was given knowingly and wilfully by the defendant. The definitions I have already given you of "knowingly and wilfully" under the conspiracy count apply equally as well to this count.

The second element which must be proved is that at the time of this offense Sanders and Morales were public officials of the United States, acting in their official capacity. Since the proof shows without dispute that the United States paid 80 per cent of Sanders' and Morales' salary and paid 100 per cent of the cost of the program which they were administering, they are public officials of the United States and were acting in their official capacities in connection with this lease.

The third element which must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt is that the money was paid corruptly, that is, that it was paid or caused to be paid to Sanders and Morales with the specific intent to influence an official act, namely, to approve the lease for the building owned by the defendant at 177 East 123rd Street.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

ANTHONY LOSCHIAVO,

Defendant.

Jun 1 = 53 H 750 151 73 Cr. 290 13-1190

#42605

METZNER, D. J .:

Anthony Loschiavo has moved pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2255 (1970) to vacate the judgment of conviction and sentence imposed upon him on the ground that the public official he was convicted of bribing was not a federal public official as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 201.

Movant was indicted on April 4, 1973, and charged with conspiracy, bribery and two counts of perjury. After trial a jury found him guilty of bribery (18 U.S.C. § 201(b)), acquitted him of conspiracy and one count of perjury, and failed to reach a verdict on the other perjury count.

Subsequently, movant was sentenced to a one year prison term and a $5,000 fine. His conviction was affirmed without opinion, 493 F.2d 1399 (2d Cir. 1974), and the Supreme Court denied certiorari, 419 U.S. 872 (1974). Movant has completed his prison sentence and has paid the fine which was imposed. The perjury count upon which the jury disagreed was dismissed by this court on February 24, 1975, inasmuch as the government showed no interest in pursuing it.

In convicting movant of bribery, the jury necessarily found that the bribe was received by one Pedro Morales, an employee in the Model Cities Program. Section 201 requires that Morales be a public official of the United States acting in his official capacity and the jury was so charged. The jury was also charged without objection, however, that:

"Since the proof shows without dispute that the United States paid 80 per cent of Sanders' and Morales' salary and paid 100 per cent of the cost of the program which they were administering, they are public officials of the United States and were acting in their official capacities in connection with this lease."

It should be noted that Sanders was Morales' superior who split the bribe with Morales.

On appeal, movent argued that there was no basis of jumindiction under Section 101 because there was no federal money involved and MUD was not directly affected by the bribe.

Almost one year after affirming movant's conviction without opinion, the Second Circuit reversed the bribery conviction of two other men who had also been accused of bribing Pedro Morales in order to obtain a Model Cities lease. United States v. Del Toro, 74-2021, 2035 (2d Cir. February 27, 1975).

The result reached by the court was dictated by its conclusion that Morales was not a federal public official within the scope of Section 201. Id. at 1970. It was this opinion which prompted the instant motion.

The government opposes the application, attempting to distinguish the facts in Del Toro from those in this case. It is also argued that Loschiavo waived this issue at trial.

There is no valid distinction between the Del Toro case and movant's case on the key issue of the nature of Morales' employment. Since this court did not have jurisdiction over the crime charged, the conviction must be vacated. The charge on the jurisdictional element was, in light of Del Toro, a plain error which clearly affected substantial rights of the movant. It may therefore be considered at this juncture even though not raised at trial. Fed. R. Crim. P. 52(b).

Motion granted.
